Groundcover or ground cover is any plant that grows over an area of ground. Groundcover provides protection of the topsoil from erosion and drought. That's why those pesky invasive plants have a way of cropping up on listings of ground covers for shade. Just because you see them included. Ground cover plants offer a low-maintenance alternative to the carpets of lawn to which we have become accustomed. Read about the best. Nothing fills a vacant space and minimizes garden maintenance like herbaceous ground covers. Steadily gaining ground in the first few seasons, these plants.

If that plant happens to be attractive and keep out weeds as well, so much the better. For many years the quintessential American shade ground cover was ivy. There is nothing like evergreen ground cover plants to fill a vacant space in your yard and minimize the amount of time that you spend maintaining your garden.
